

Benefits of an art center

(as compared to whole group art lesson)

- * children are given the opportunity to linger and expand upon their creations or simply move on if art is just not their mode of learning at the moment
- * gives teachers the opportunity to engage with children – asking open-ended questions and gathering lot of awesome insights into their thinking processes
- * provides time for greater exploration of materials and hopefully deeper thinking and pondering of how they want to create their project
- * allows for increased meaningful learning for children as they construct at their own pace and choice

Debra S. Honegger, Early Childhood Instructional Coach
 Union Public Schools
 Pictures from 3 and 4 year old classrooms