

ENVIRONMENTS: Ideas for Storage and Arrangement of Materials:

(Reflecting Children's Lives by Curtis and Carter)

- Thoughtful storage and display of materials will convey a natural sense of order as well as beauty.

- Remember the principal "less is more."

- Accessible storage and an orderly presentation of materials invite children's focus and curiosity and encourage children to appreciate and use materials more intentionally.

- Teachers organize space and select materials in all content and developmental areas to stimulate exploration, experimentation, discovery and conceptual learning. (NAEYC recommendation 3.A.04)
